MOON PHASES

This full Moon comes to us on Tuesday March 10th at 10:30pm in the Sign of Virgo. This moon is known as The Wind Moon. It is a time to welcome new beginnings, conceive new ideas and projects. Think about what you want to take root in your life.

The Upright Lovers card represents LOVE as a force that makes you choose and decide for reasons you often can't understand; it makes you surrender control to a higher power. And that is what this card is all about. Finding something or someone who is so much a part of yourself, so perfectly attuned to you and you to them, that you cannot, dare not resist. In interpretation, the card indicates that the querent has come across, or will come across a person, career, challenge or thing that they will fall in love with. They will know instinctively that they must have this, even if it means diverging from their chosen path. No matter the difficulties, without it they will never be complete. It's all about messages and making contact; also, as it is the card of the twins, it's about finding your other self. In this regard, you can see that the Lovers card begins to make sense. Especially if you change it back to "LOVE." Here is a card about perfect communication, about finding something your soul requires. In this regard, its most common interpretation about being "A Choice" makes sense. When this card appears, you are being told to trust you instincts, to choose this career, challenge, person or thing you're so strongly drawn to, no matter how scary, how difficult, irrational or troublesome - without it, you will never be wholly you. It's sudden and unexpected, and it means a complete change in plans; but this is LOVE. True love. Go for it!

The Reversed Lovers card warns of rash decisions that will more than likely be regretted down the road. You must consider your options carefully; test them with your own intuition. Do they feel right in your gut? It also warns against being indecisive and too cerebral in your decision-making - let your heart and inner knowing guide you. You must choose your path carefully, and adhere to it. The reversed Lovers also indicates mistiming and frustrations in relationships - this is not the time to rush into one, especially if it is just to avoid being lonely and/or alone. Avoid wasting your energy and time pining for a past love that fizzled away. Bide your time - your perfect someone will appear at exactly the right moment! Don't try to force it!

A POEM
by Heather Kosky
Tears they will fall
Cries of loneliness will call
Endless anxiety over a future unknown
Is a feeling to which this creature is prone
Inner battles between resistance and peace
Wonderment of when this fight will cease
Circling round in laughter and tears
Racing thoughts of hopes and fears
Praying for strength to let hurt fall away
Praying for sunshine to brighten each day
Let intention make love and dreams a reality
So all else becomes mere triviality
